

ROOF STYLES

Shed roof

Cross gable roof

Pitch:	The steepness of a roof
Gable roof:	A pitched roof with two sloped sides. This is the typical roof that we think of when we draw a house. They can be very low pitched or very high pitched.
Hip roof:	A roof with 4 sloped sides
Gambrel roof:	A roof that has two slopes on each side, the upper slope being flatter than the lower slope, allowing interior space for full sized room upstairs.
Mansard roof:	a roof that has two slopes on all sides, with the lower slope being steep and the upper slope being almost flat
Flat roof:	a single plane roof that is pitched at a very low angle to shed water
Shed roof:	A roof that starts at the eaves of the existing roof and continues at a lower pitch.
Cross Gable roof:	A pair of gable roofs set at right angles to each other.